

From the Director

Spring 2017 E-News

A Personal Note From the Director... One More Issue!

I get to write one more e-news before I leave the Center and head out for the summer! Thank you for 23 happy years and all your wonderful faces. No kidding! I will not forget the Roadshows, the lunches, the trainings with Troy (and Sally), the judges, ADR Commission meetings, the ADR Section of the Bar, Contract Review Board, Bar Christmases, my colleagues at the ASB, the Supreme Court staff and AOC. Plus our website and e-news guru, Margaret Meier de Cox. Fantastico!

The Center for Dispute Resolution is a 501 (c) (3) non-profit. Special thanks to the Board: Bill Coleman, Charlie Boyd, outgoing member Noah Funderburg, and incoming member, Harold Stephens.

Thank you to the Supreme Court of Alabama for our basic funding since 1996, and to the Bar for our offices; the Center has truly been a Bench-Bar project since we started in 1994.

Thank you specially, Bill Coleman, for choosing me as the Center's founding director. It was a great match and such a pleasure!

Center Welcomes Eileen Harris

We are in May already. Patsy is BACK! We are making sure your 2017 profiles at the website are correct, entering data into the database so we are prepared to send copy to the printer, reviewing surveys and gathering statistics, and finishing quarterly reports.

Please help us be as accurate as possible by reviewing the materials we send you with your roster certificate, and letting us know of any changes we need to make. If you have not renewed your roster membership, please call us so we can assist you.

As I mentioned at the end of last year, this spring brings change to the Center leadership. I would like to introduce you to my successor, Eileen Harris, the new Executive Director of the Alabama Center for Dispute Resolution as of June 1. I hope you will welcome her warmly.

Eileen Harris is an attorney and a mediator. She was admitted to practice in Alabama in 1999. Ms. Harris earned her B.A. degree in Political Science from Valdosta State and her M.S. degree in Operations Management from the University of Arkansas. She graduated from the Thomas Goode Jones School of Law in 1998. She comes to the Alabama Center for Dispute resolution with extensive management and leadership experience gained while serving in the military and from working in leadership positions for two non-profit organizations.

Better Business Bureau Seeking Arbitrators

The Better Business Bureau Serving Central and South Alabama, a non-profit organization, is seeking attorneys to serve as volunteer arbitrators in the resolution of consumer/business disputes in this area. This is a great opportunity for the right attorney at your firm to devote their Arbitration and Mediation skills to helping the community and marketplace, and I hope you will pass this message along.

Openings are available for arbitrators to assist with the two kinds of out-of-court arbitration cases that are heard using attorneys as neutral thirds parties:

- Binding arbitration disputes between consumers and local businesses
- BBB AUTO LINE, which works to resolve new vehicle warranty disputes between customers and participating automobile manufacturers

The goal of arbitration is to resolve business/consumer disputes quickly and economically as an alternative to the court system. Accordingly, arbitrating is a professional activity requiring excellent written, verbal, listening, fact-finding and logical reasoning skills.

A two-week training program will take place in June. The training is conducted through a series of conference calls and web-based learning modules, and includes readings and exercises prior to each class. The sessions cover the Lemon Law, specifics of the BBB AUTO LINE program and general arbitration skills. Candidates are required to pass an online written assessment for certification.

There is no cost for training or materials. Arbitrators receive a $100.00 honorarium per AUTO LINE case, but binding arbitration cases between consumers and local businesses are pro bono. You can expect to be asked to participate in three to four hearings per year. Candidates who successfully complete the training will be eligible to hear both AUTO LINE and binding arbitration cases.

You can learn more about the program and training, and find the application form at <https://www.bbb.org/bbb-dispute-handling-and-resolution/become-an-arbitrator>.
